MATT RETZLAFF

Reclaimed Metal Artist

*"Just because people throw it out and have no use for it, doesn't mean it's garbage."
-Andy Warhol*

About Me

Award winning reclaimed metal artist whose works have been gallery displayed and featured in published works. With almost 18k followers on social media, I have sold my art all over the world.

Inspired by nature, I give unwanted metal a "new life" through my art. The scrap metal, old tools, etc... that I use are obtained through garbage picking, garage/barn sales and donations. Using a MIG welder, I piece the found metal together like a puzzle resulting in my signature style. I appreciate when people take the time to stop, look, and find the "Easter Eggs" within my art, whether it be a vintage tool, animal or machine part... a smile always follows.
